April 29, 2026

Subject- Application for Hybrid Research Assistant and Field Coordinator

Dear recruitment committee,

It is with great pleasure that I apply to Hybrid Research Assistant and Field Coordinator position in your esteemed institute. Working as researcher in World Bank has been my longstanding interest.

I was particularly interested in the area of the research, the application of AI in teacher development and student learning. As a lecturer myself, I can tell from my experience how AI effectively supports teaching-learning process. This necessitates a set of interventions targeted at upgrading teachers' skills on AI. I believe the topic is both timely and highly essential. Therefore, I would like to be part of this critical project.

In addition to my extensive experience as a researcher and lecturer, I have worked as project manager in a development consultancy firm, Wass Development. In this position, as a project manager, I was involved in conducting monitoring and evaluation of projects, base line surveys, initiating partnerships with NGOs, private and public enterprises, and forging sustainable relationship with them. Besides, I have led the development of several winning proposals developed in response to call for grants. I also participated in donor-funded research projects at Addis Ababa University, including those in collaboration with Italian Development Cooperation and Swedish agencies like SIDA.

I also possess moderate proficiency in Stata and R, both of which are relevant to the position. My research experience in wide range of topics would help me in the envisaged position. In terms of education, I completed an MSc degree in Economics and BA in Economics, both of which are relevant to the position. I also have strong quantitative skills as evidenced by excellent GRE score on quant section, excellent grades in mathematical economics/econometrics courses at graduate and undergraduate levels. In research project funded by Policy Study Institute (PSI, then called EDRI), I utilized qualitative research tools and instruments (like interview, FGD, and Key Informant Interview). I can, therefore, confidently say that I have excellent qualitative and quantitative analytical skills, skill-sets required for the position as per the announcement.

I believe that my relevant experience will appeal to your satisfaction. I once again reassure that if I am successful in securing the position, I will work to the best of my ability and with passionate devotion.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Daniel Berhane Reda

References

1. Habtamu Fuje (PhD)- Economist, IMF, Washington, D.C.

   E-mail- HFuje@imf.org

2. Mesele Araya (PhD)- Country Economist, IGC- Ethiopia; Associate Professor, Addis Ababa University

   E-mail- mesele.araya@theigc.org or mesele.araya@aau.edu.et

3. Mulugeta Yohannes- Senior lecturer, Addis Ababa University

   E-mail- mulugeta.yohannes@aau.edu.et